

EUROPE SUFFERS FROM COLD WAVE

SECRECY RULE MUST GO

CHANGE SCHEDULED TO REQUIRE SENATE TO PONDER OPENLY

Leaders Fear Plan
Would Embarrass
New President

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—The 150-year old secrecy rule of the senate is scheduled for a change today so all future nominations may be considered in open sessions unless a majority want the doors closed.

The effort for reform, which followed publication by the United Press of the entire secret ballot on the nomination of Roy O. West as secretary of interior, was side-tracked at first by Republican leaders.

They said privately they did not want to change the rule now for fear it would embarrass President Hoover whose cabinet is soon to be considered. Word has now come from Hoover that he is willing for his cabinet to be considered in open session, so the leaders are preparing to make the change.

The secrecy of the senate was born with the republic. For the first six years the senate considered all its business behind closed doors. Later it opened its doors for legislative business but it never took the secrecy restrictions from its nominations and treaties.

The system was kept because the senate felt it did not represent the people. Its members were elected by state legislatures until twenty years ago and it felt it represented the states, and therefore it was not responsible to the people.

The leaders are preparing to accept one of three resolutions which are to be brought up this afternoon, the Jones resolution providing the senate may vote by a majority in closed session whether it will have a closed session on nominations; the Robinson resolution providing a majority can force open session on either nominations or treaties; and the Georgia resolution providing the senate must vote in the open to go into executive session by a majority vote.

Meanwhile representatives of both houses interested in the recent Wall St. slump today were waiting word from the federal reserve board in answer to the Heflin resolution, adopted yesterday, calling for suggestions as to what legislation can be enacted to stop speculative speculation.

The Capper resolution proposing that the president be empowered to place an arms embargo against any nation violating the Kellogg anti-war treaty, received a greater reception in the press than it did in congress. There was a discussion concerning it and there is no hope that it will be considered on the floor before congress adjourns.

Lincoln's Gettysburg address is to be read in both houses and later the house is to consider the legislative appropriation bill, one of the last of the regular supply measures which must be passed before adjournment at noon March 4.

POPE BESTOWS HIS BLESSING ON WORLD AS STATUS CHANGES

Act Crowns Pope's Triumph Over Peace With Italy

ROME, Feb. 12.—While a great multitude that filled the vast square in front of St. Peter's paid him homage, Pope Pius XI appeared on a balcony today and gave his blessing to the whole world.

It was the crowning act of the pope's day of triumph, in which he celebrated the seventh anniversary of his coronation and the consummation of peace between the Vatican and Italy after fifty-eight years of estrangement.

The blessing "urbis et orbis" (of the city and the world) came at the conclusion of a pontifical high mass in the cathedral, at which a crowd that filled every available inch of space paid tribute to the pope and the Roman settlement.

The blessing was significant of the pope's changed status at the restoration of his temporal sovereignty. It was a custom abandoned by the popes in 1870, when they retired into seclusion in the Vatican. It was revived only twice, by the present pope, once at his election and again at his coronation. Then he returned to the precedent of his predecessors and for seven years the blessing had not been bestowed.

It was estimated that the blessing was bestowed in the presence of 100,000 persons, who gave the pontiff an ovation.

The pope appeared on the balcony accompanied by a cross-bearer, the colleges of cardinals in their scarlet robes, and the members of the papal court.

It was a pageant of medieval splendor. Groups of black shirts gathered early with bands playing the Fascist anthem, "Fascist March."

The square filled rapidly as time for the mass approached. The shrill sound of silver trumpets sounding the papal fanfare broke the silence inside the great cathedral.

A mighty cheer went up, announcing the pope's entrance into the church. The pontifical high mass was celebrated at the papal altar in front of the tomb of St. Peter, the Apostle, with the pope enthroned nearby.

At its conclusion the Te Deum was sung, the many thousands present raising their voices in the hymn which swelled from the packed floors to the galleries, crowded with nuns and priests.

UNITED MINE WORKERS WILL ATTEMPT TO UNIONIZE MINES

BELLAIRE, O., Feb. 12.—A drive to again unionize the Ohio mine fields loomed today as the result of the appointment of David Fowler of Cambridge to take charge of Ohio sub-districts of the United Mine Workers of America.

It is rumored the appointment of Fowler heralds an effort to get all men now working in open shop mines to walk out on strike April 1. It is said that Fowler likely will organize a force to work at the various mines seeking promises of men to renew their memberships in the union and to join in a walk-

GALLIPOLIS MAN KILLS WIFE AND THEN COMMITS SUICIDE

GALLIPOLIS, O., Feb. 12.—O. H. Jones, 48, an insurance agent, shot and killed his wife here early today, then killed himself.

Bodies of the couple were found by members of the fire department who were summoned to the home by the insurance man's children.

Firemen called police and Coroner Fred Millisor who returned a verdict of murder and suicide.

Domestic difficulties were believed responsible. Mrs. Jones, aged 44, recently consulted a lawyer, and Millisor believes this led to the dual tragedy.

The couple leave three children, two daughters aged 13 and 20, and a son, 16.

Abraham Lincoln's Home Pays Respects To Memory

Springfield—the city Abraham Lincoln called home—bowed today in reverent homage to the man who gave it a historical tradition that will live forever.

On this—the 120th anniversary of Lincoln's birth—several hundred admirers of the famous Civil War president gathered in the historical circuit court room of the old Sangamon County court house and heard a speech on the Great Emancipator.

The speech was made by Claude G. Bowers, historian, writer, editor and orator. He not only spoke of Lincoln, but also discussed the emancipator's bitter political adversary, Stephen A. Douglas.

The meeting was sponsored by the Lincoln Centennial Association of this city which observes the birth of Lincoln in special services each year.

As many as could jammed into the old fashioned court room, originally the Illinois hall of representatives, to hear Bowers speak.

Bowers, an editorial writer for the New York World and "key-note" at the Democratic national convention of 1928, touched on the background of the humble Lincoln, and the polished, well-educated Douglas as well as their political conduct, views, aims and accomplishments.

Lincoln, born of a poor family in a backwoods Kentucky cabin; Douglas, reared in an atmosphere of culture, refinement and education; Lincoln the orator, Douglas the debater; Lincoln, ever humble in his associations; Douglas, haughty in his political activities.

Those were some of the comparisons drawn by Bowers. In touch-

NEW DRY DEPUTIES ARE APPOINTED

Appointments recently announced included John Hayes, of St. Clairsville; Capt. Norman Whiting, of Marietta, and Lemar Wilson, of Madison County.

WILL SUCCEED DEAN PHILLIP NASH WHEN SCHOOL YEAR ENDS

Biology Professor Elected To Post At Yellow Springs

Prof. Ondess L. Inman, head of the biology department of Antioch College, has been appointed successor to Phillip C. Nash as dean of the Yellow Springs school, according to announcement made Tuesday.

The resignation of Dean Nash, for the purpose of becoming director of the League of Nations Association, New York, to which position he was appointed in December, becomes effective at the close of the school year, June 30.

Prof. Inman's successor on the faculty has not yet been named.

Appointment of Prof. Inman as dean of the college was made by President Arthur E. Morgan and the executive committee of the Antioch faculty.

Prof. Inman has been professor of biology at Antioch for the last eight years ever since the re-organization of the school under President Morgan, by the co-operative plan, taking up his duties at the same time as Dean Nash. His home was originally at Bloomfield, Ill., but he came to Antioch from Harvard University, where he was acting as assistant professor while taking work for his Ph. D. degree.

He is a graduate of the University of Illinois and has taken work and taught at various other colleges, including the University of Idaho.

Dean Nash, who is also mayor of Yellow Springs, was made director of the League of Nations in December, to succeed Charles C. Bauer, Springfield, who will become vice president of the council of the organization. Dean Nash announced his resignation as official at Antioch about the middle of January, but at that time it was not expected that his successor would be appointed until toward the close of the school year.

Since its organization in 1919, the League of Nations Association, has carried on a vigorous educational campaign to strengthen the League of Nations and to promote harmonious international relations. The association has promoted many of the world court bills which have been proposed in congress and has also fostered a strong movement to arouse sentiment for membership in the League.

Dean Nash and his family will move to New York when his position at Antioch is terminated.

SO MERCY TEMPER JUSTICE

Women Prosecutor Abandons Role Of Duty To Help Accused Youths

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 12.—Two boys, one 15 and the other 21, confessed plotters of United States mails were looking at life on a new horizon today because Miss Irene Nungesser, assistant U. S. attorney saw possibilities in them.

Arthur Emery, 15, of New Philadelphia was in the City hospital almost completely recovered from a brain operation which is expected to remove all his criminal tendencies.

He is looking forward to the time when he can some way repay his parents for the trouble he has caused them in escapades prior to the one that landed him in the hands of Postoffice inspectors.

John Voshch, 21, of Somerset, is under arrest here in connection with a filling station robbery. His cap was brought about when an attendant whom he tried to rob, shot him. He was not seriously wounded.

Both boys stole letters. Both were brought here by postal inspectors. Miss Nungesser investigated their case. She discovered the handicaps under which they had been raised.

Dropping her role as public prosecutor she assumed that of public defender, and went into court in behalf of the two young defendants.

DOLLAR DAY!

The dollar bill, which has apparently fallen into some disrepute since the late lamented war, will come into its own in Xenia Thursday.

On that day dollars spent in Xenia will not only buy one hundred cents worth of merchandise but will actually purchase merchandise much over that value.

SHUMAKER IS TAKEN TO JAIL

PUTNAMVILLE, Ind., Feb. 12.—The Rev. E. S. Shumaker, superintendent of the Indiana Anti-Saloon League, today began serving his sixty-day sentence for contempt of the Indiana Supreme Court.

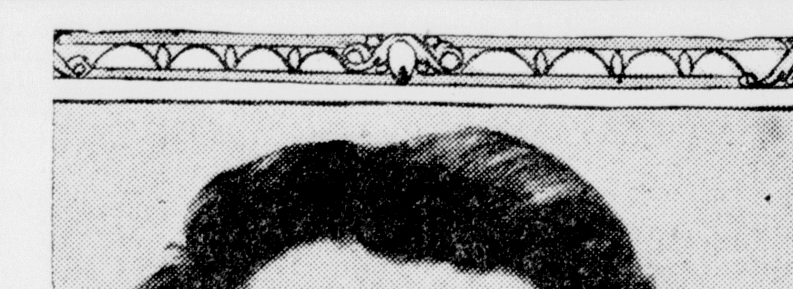

Shumaker gave up his fight to escape the sentence yesterday and surrendered.

He arrived at the state penal farm here at 5:15 p. m. yesterday in the company of Sheriff George L. Winkler of Marion County and was "dressed in" shortly after.

Shumaker had fought the sentence for over two years. He was cited for contempt as a result of a report which appeared in the American Issue, Anti-Saloon League publication, in February, 1926.

Arthur Gilliom, then attorney general of Indiana, charged that Shumaker committed contempt in criticizing the prosecution of prohibition cases.

DEATH TOLL MOUNTS AS COLDEST WINTER CONTINUES ITS GRIP

ABRAHAM LINCOLN

LONDON, Feb. 12.—Intense suffering spread through Europe today as the coldest weather in years continued.

Forty-eight deaths attributed directly or indirectly to the weather were recorded during the last three days.

Shipping, railways and telephone and telegraph service remained completely disrupted or seriously impaired in many parts of the continent.

Low temperatures and unheated homes drove the poor of Debreen, Hungary, into the streets, begging to be arrested so they might keep warm.

A peasant arrived at the Cracow, Poland City Hospital, with his wife and daughter bundled in a wagon suffering from influenza. He uncovered them and found they were frozen to death.

Four railway workers were killed when they failed to hear a train approach.

The British Isles also shivered as severe snow storms prevailed through Scotland and on the Isle of Wight.

Fifteen feet of snow was reported in Wigtownshire.

The Hebrides were isolated from the mainland.

At Bognor, where King George went Saturday to recover from his illness, a wind reaching almost gale force blew last night and the maximum temperature during the day was thirty degrees Fahrenheit.

The German battleships Schleswig-Holstein and Elsass returned to Kiel last yesterday and reported they could do nothing further towards liberating ice-locked ships in the Baltic Sea.

More than a hundred vessels were trapped when the sea froze during the week end.

Forty were liberated by the Schleswig-Holstein before it returned to Kiel.

The German government has set about organizing relief expeditions for the North Sea islands, of which Langkloog, Juist, Amrum and Pellworm were completely shut off from the mainland today.

Airplanes will be sent to drop food, mail and drugs to the inhabitants, it was said.

Warsaw reported temperatures of 47 degrees below zero, Fahrenheit, yesterday. The ground was frozen to a depth of several yards and burials were impossible.

BILL TO PROTECT TRADEMARKS HEARD

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 12.—A bill to make forfeiture of trademarks a penal offense was introduced in the state senate last night by Sen. Aaron L. Shafer, Van Wert County.

The bill provides that anyone buying, selling, or having in his possession a mechanical device with the manufacturer's serial number, or other identification mark, removed or marred will be liable under the law.

Vacuum cleaners, sewing and washing machines are named in the measure.

Sen. Shafer's bill carries a penalty of $500 or three months imprisonment.

SEEK TO IDENTIFY VICTIM OF MURDER

CANTON, O., Feb. 12.—Police here today were trying to identify the body of a man found at the mouth of a storm sewer on the east side of the city by two boys.

Coroner T. C. McQuate, after investigation, declared the man's skull was fractured and that his throat had been cut. He said the body had been in the water from six weeks to two months.

Police are working on the theory that the man had been attacked with a hammer, robbed and his body thrown into the sewer to hide the crime.

Relatives of a 65-year-old Canton man, who disappeared January 19, were to view the body in an effort to identify it.

LINDBERGH LEAVES FOR HAVANA STOP

BRITISH HONDURAS, Feb. 12.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh on the last section of his return airmail flight from the Panama Canal Zone, started at 6:12 a. m. E. S. T. today for Havana, enroute to Miami.

Five minutes earlier, Lyman K. Merritt, who is accompanying him northward with surplus mail which Lindbergh was unable to handle, had taken off in another plane.

Robber is shot. ZANESVILLE, O., Feb. 12.—Leo Litzinger, 21, of Somerset, is under arrest here in connection with a filling station robbery. His cap was brought about when an attendant whom he tried to rob, shot him. He was not seriously wounded.

WHEN A CHILD IS FEVERISH, CROSS, UPSET

Colic, gas, sour belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, in babies and children, generally show food is souring in the little digestive tract.

When these symptoms appear, give Baby a teaspoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Add it to the first bottle of food in the morning. Other children should be given a tablespoonful in a glass of water. This will comfort the child—make his stomach and bowels easy. In five minutes he is comfortable, happy. It will sweep the bowels free of all sour, indigestible food. It opens the bowels in constipation, colds, children's ailments. Children take it readily because it is palatable, pleasant-tasting.

Learn its many uses for mother and child. Write for the interesting book, "Useful Information." Address The Phillips Co., 117 Hudson St., New York, N. Y. It will be sent FREE.

In buying, be sure to get genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 50 years.

Her Hair Fairly SPARKLES Now!

The woman who knows what to do after waving her hair doesn't fear the effect of hot irons. Nor of frequent washings. A few drops of Danderine—on comb or towel—and the hair is soft and lustrous, and behaves beautifully.

A bit of Danderine rubbed lightly into the scalp, is the one sure way to dissolve every particle of dandruff. But a few drops more make a dressing that is simply marvelous. A sheen that rivals brilliancy, and no grease!

Any permanent wave or water wave lasts much longer and looks much nicer when Danderine is used. Instead of water to "set" the wave.

Kidney Trouble, Rheumatism and High Blood Pressure Disappear After Taking Famous Medicine

MR. C. BOSTWICK
"Konjola certainly did wonders for me and I happily praise it to everyone who is ill because I believe that through the use of Konjola there could be a lot less suffering in this world," said Mr. C. Bostwick, Grove City, Ohio, who is a suburb of Columbus.

"High blood pressure and kidney trouble almost drove me blind. Severe back pains prevented me from sleeping well or even turning over in bed. Rheumatism settled in every joint. My neck and back hurt so much that I was nearly wild. For years I suffered in this manner and tried in vain to find a medicine to relieve me."

"Then Konjola was recommended and I made up my mind to give it a trial. By the end of the first bottle I began to feel better. My kidneys grew stronger, my blood pressure was reduced and the rheumatic pains became less severe. I continued the treatment and today I am a well man. Konjola ended every trace of kidney trouble, rheumatism and other ailments. I have new strength and greater energy and for those reasons I praise this master medicine."

Konjola is different from any other known remedy in this section. It contains twenty-two juices extracted from natural plants, which invigorate the stomach, liver, kidneys, and bowels to a more healthy action. The effect of Konjola on the entire system brings amazing relief in cases of suffering that has been going on for years. At the same time, many weak and rundown systems have been restored to a new state of health through this compound. Such a vast number of men and women in this city have told of their experience with this new medical product, until now, Konjola is the most highly indorsed medicine that is known in this vicinity. Konjola is sold in Xenia at the Galloway drug store, and by all the best druggists throughout this entire section. Adv.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

HABITS FIX CHARACTER.—Can the Ethiopian change his skin, or the leopard his spots? then may ye also do good, that are accustomed to do evil.—Jeremiah 13:23.

AS GREAT AS EDISON OR EINSTEIN

The human race produces scores, perhaps hundreds, of minds in each generation which are potentially as great as those of Edison, Einstein, Ford, Shaw, Foch or Rockefeller. But the world rarely profits by these potentialities because only a handful of men in each generation develop their minds to a point approximating the inherited capacities.

The average man develops far less than half his real mental capacity, reports Myron M. Stearns, bringing out these striking estimates, made by leading psychologists and educators.

"Few men, I feel sure, ever develop a fifth of their natural brain power," he quotes Dr. Arthur H. Sutherland, widely known experimental psychologist of Los Angeles. "A tenth is more nearly correct for most men."

"Psychologists in the main agree that the average man develops less than half of his brain inheritance," reports Mr. Stearns. "The majority of the estimates run from 40 per cent of the total down to 25 per cent."

Extended tests conducted by Prof. Edward L. Thorndyke of Columbia university and others have proved that the adult until he reaches 50 or more, is generally as capable of learning anything from simple games to foreign languages as a child. Mr. Stearns points out. The adult can change his habits, his profession or job, his pleasures and his entire state of life, often to his advantage, while in his middle years. The axiom to the effect that you can't teach an old dog new tricks has been completely disproved.

But the fact is, the psychologists have found, that most of us stop learning voluntarily, usually in our middle teens, and almost always before we have reached 25. Of the 25,000,000 children now in school, the estimates show, 15,000,000 will not pass the eighth grade. Of the remaining 10,000,000 two-thirds will not finish high school. Only 1,000,000 will enter college, and only one-third of these will graduate.

"There we have the problem of our arrested development in a nutshell," says Mr. Stearns. "Although a thousand and one reasons are given by boys who leave school and go to work, the one big underlying reason is that they don't want to go to school any longer. Other things are of more interest than continuing mere mental development. They want to make use of the knowledge they already have, in securing money, adventure, an immediate place in the world, or a good time."

The development of the normal person is halted by himself merely because he is willing to accept what he has, and is willing to make the necessary effort for further progress.

Your BROADWAY And Mine

NEW YORK.—There is a moving picture triumph in New York that attracts capacity audiences at every performance, but the great picture has killed six spectators. That number of people have died in the theater while witnessing the film, not being able, it is presumed, to check their grief during its more tense episodes.

ALWAYS BELITTLIN'

F. P. A.'s col'n in the World has been anxious to discover the origin of the phrase "Main Stem." During the week-end Mr. Adams recorded that a lady friend in the west had written him that "Main Stem" was used by George Ade in a book, but when he asked her to name the tome she failed to answer.

Yesterday this detective was notified by Morris Markey that "Main Stem" was hobo slang.

Being a most incessant employee of the expression, we hoped to be able to help F. P. A. solve his problem, but for the life of us we cannot remember from whom we swiped it.

EARL CARROLL'S LATEST

Earl Carroll started first night spectators with his newest extravaganza, christened "Floriotta." It is listed in the playbills as a "romantic Venetian comedy" but it is more than that. "Floriotta" with its electrically appointed mountings, upholstery, colorings, drapes and spears, lances, trumpets and girls, is indeed the hand-somest production seen on the local platform in over so long a spell, and when Miss Fannie Bice tardily made her initial appearance, "Floriotta" became a treat for the ear as well as for the orb.

It obviously was prepared at a great cost. One expert on such things remarked that it probably cost about $150,000, but a quarter of a million dollars may be more approximate. For "Floriotta" is an incessant parade of eye-filling wardrobe and hangings, gorgeous designs and extremely beautiful women. With a more distinguished score, the stunning presentation might have been the greatest of all shows.

The Way of the World

JANUARY carried the birthday of Robert Burns, whom Carlyle called, "The greatest Scotchman who ever lived." It was Burns who illuminated life's commonplace scenes and experiences with the beauty of words and imagination and love. Burns was great in humanity. He was great in his understanding of the common people—and most of us are common people. He was great in his knowledge of the heart of man. Read in Burns:

"Tis thus the royal mandate ran, When first the human race began.

The social, friendly, honest man, What 'ere he be— 'Tis he fulfills great Nature's plan, And none but he."

THE END OF WAR

A Japanese Rotarian by the name of Miyaoaka says: "There are no boundaries or sovereignties in our brotherhood. If the same feeling which characterizes us characterized the actions of government, there would be no international question." War is made by the spirit of national leaders.

Rarely do the people force nations into war. Leaders may wish to have it appear that they are in the hands of the people but too often that is by no means the case. They may be far ahead or far behind the people. The overwhelming power for international peace lies in leadership.

SKIMMERS

Those who skim through good books get less for their time than those who read fewer books—thoughtfully. The acquisition of language, of the power of expression, is of great and increasing importance. Language is learned from the best writers. Read the best writers carefully, slowly, when you pick up a book to put this question to yourself: "Have I time for this? If I read THIS I can't read THAT."

USE OF PNEUMATIC TUBES BETWEEN AIRPORTS

By W. IRVING GLOVER
Second Assistant Postmaster General

Warren Irving Glover was born at Brooklyn, Oct. 2, 1879. He was educated in the public schools and began as a boy in the employ of a commission merchant in New York City. In that year he organized the Afton Holding corporation, a real estate concern. He served as a member of the New Jersey assembly from 1916 to 1921 and as speaker in 1920. During the next four years he was third assistant postmaster general and has been second assistant since 1925. His home is in Englewood, N. J.

The post office department, at all times, has in mind the quickness and speediest delivery of air mail, and I believe that, in the near future, the volume of air mail will increase and become so important that all the principal air mail fields of the country will be connected with the post offices by pneumatic tubes which will insure a delivery of air mail at the office within five minutes after landing on the field. In many cases this will mean a saving of half an hour and, in some cases in various cities of the system, a greater saving in time.

The expense will not be so great as one might imagine and I am sure there are companies which would be glad to begin the installation of tube lines between post offices and air mail fields. Can you picture the carrying in time that it would mean for the air mail of New York City which will shortly be landing in Newark, N. J., if some could be transported by tube to the Hudson terminal and there be distributed by our present installed air tube service to other post office stations of the city.

Just at the moment there are several great national passenger-carrying companies ready to announce the inauguration of passenger-carrying lines from New York to Los Angeles and other distant points. How long after a passenger-carrying line is in successful operation say from New York to Los Angeles, is the business man (where speed is the very essence of the movement) going to be content to allow his business mail to be carried by train with a journey of five days when there is a line of passenger-carrying planes in operation over the route covering the same distance in 30 hours? The answer is simply this, that the post office department, under the legislation which it now has to contract for the carrying of first-class two-cent mail in the air at a rate of 60 cents a pound, will just be compelled by the demands made upon it by the business people of the country to carry this class of mail whenever possible in the air. And my belief is that, within the next year, there will be many such lines put into operation, where the carrying of first class mail in the air will prove a great benefit to the mailing public.

THE TURKEY TROT-SKY

How to Achieve Beauty

BY MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

It had oftentimes been said that the choice of the accessories is of greater importance than the clothes themselves. You can readily visualize the woman with the last year's suit, who nevertheless looks decidedly smart because her shoes, stockings, gloves and purse are all in harmony and good taste. On the other hand, ill-chosen and poorly matched accessories can ruin the effect of the most expensive garments.

The choice of the shoes and stockings is of the utmost importance. Try always to select a shoe which is appropriate to the costume you are wearing and to the occasion, where it is worn. For the little woman shoes should blend with the hosiery and the hosiery should match the frock. Two-toned stockings are best. On the whole, light shades in stockings are better than dark for this woman. A high-heeled shoe will give additional height. To wear the hat and the shoes in the same color is a very good note. Jewelry should not be too massive or overpowering; comparatively slender bracelets and small earrings are best. Purses should not be too massive or overpowering; comparatively slender bracelets and small earrings are best. Purses should be of medium size and not strike too definite a contrast in color. Let the little woman see to it that her accessories do not dwarf her.

The tall woman will wear stockings to contrast with her dress, and of a slightly different shade from her shoes, thus breaking up her too long lines. If, however, her feet are conspicuously long, then the shoes and hose match so as to detract from the size of the feet; she may even wear shoes of contrasting colors in the front and back section. Slipper buckles are very good for her, and should be worn fairly low. She can wear long, heavy chains of beads, pendant earrings, large rings and bracelets, and the more bizarre adornments which are taboo to her shorter, stouter sister.

The stockings and shoes of the stout woman, like those of the little woman, should match each other and harmonize with the costume. Generally speaking, the less conspicuous things are best; dark stockings, if possible, and plain hose; and unless the feet are unusually small, no buckles. Heels should not be too high, and are always kept straightened, as there is nothing more unattractive than heels which have run down or sagged inward under the weight of an over-stout woman. Let gloves and purses blend with the ensemble, and let simplicity be the keynote of the stout woman's accessories.

Behind the Scenes in Washington

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON.—Senator Reed Smoot of Utah, is naturally grave, not to say lugubrious, of mien. But my! His aspect was joyous until recently compared with what it is now.

No wonder, considering the job they say Herbert Hoover saddled him with at that conference they had in Florida a few days ago.

From all accounts, the president-elect wants his administration to get along on a great deal less money than President Coolidge's administration required but to spend a great deal more.

Senator Smoot's task is to figure out ways and means of accomplishing this result.

Mr. Hoover is understood to believe the Utah senator can do it if anybody can.

The senator is reported to have been born with a flair for the entry. A ledger was his favorite grade school text book and he specialized in accounting at Brigham Young academy. Then he became an banker.

On his arrival in Washington they promptly pitchedforked him into the senate finance committee. That was a long time ago—more than a quarter of a century. During all those years he's fairly soaked in government receipts and expenditures.

Smoot not only has been a member but chairman of the senate's finance committee since nobody but the oldest lawmakers know when. He's also ranking member of the appropriation committee.

He served on the World War foreign debt commission and still serves on the joint committee on internal revenue taxation. He helped to invent the budget system.

Everybody recognizes he understands the tariff better than any other man living.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon himself defers to Smoot on practical questions.

Nobody has a better grasp than Andy on broad general financial principles but he doesn't concern himself much with details.

It's doubtful if, with his own hands, he ever ran an adding machine. He deals with balance sheets.

Smoot knows finance from the ground up and is no slouch on the memory, either.

It appears that Mr. Hoover wants to save more money than was saved by an administration which economized on pencil stubs and paper towels, by omitting the blue stripe from mail sacks and by curtailing the soap allowance per scrub woman on the marble floors of government buildings.

He wants to reduce taxes some more, after even Cal's admission that it would be a long time before any more reductions would be possible.

Simultaneously Herbert proposes to connect the Great Lakes with the Atlantic and the Gulf of Mexico, harness the Mississippi and its tributaries, build Boulder dam, maybe dig a ditch across Nicaragua, relieve agriculture and launch several other several billion-dollar enterprises.

Mr. Hoover delegates Senator Smoot to reconcile these two programs. Like Andy Mellon, he leaves details to others.

The senator has been heard to remark that he was puzzled by references to the "new day" in government, which is promised with Mr. Hoover's advent in the White House.

Now it's explained to him.

Grapefruit cut up with dates makes a change from the usual grapefruit or orange starter for the breakfast and is also economical, as it makes the grapefruit go further. The amounts are for four people.

Today's Recipes

Ham and Macaroni Scallop—Eighteen sticks macaroni, one cup minced ham two tablespoons butter, one tablespoon flour, one cup milk, one-fourth teaspoon pepper or green pepper if you like it, two tablespoons grated cheese, one-half cup bread crumbs. Break macaroni in short lengths and cook in boiling salted water until tender. (About 30 minutes.) Make a sauce by blending the butter and flour smoothly, adding milk to the mixture and boil. Add pepper, but no salt as the ham will sufficiently salt it. Grease a baking dish and place in it alternate layers of macaroni and sauce, sprinkling a little of the cheese over each layer of the macaroni. Melt another tablespoon of butter, add the pepper to it, and stir until they have absorbed the butter. Spread over the ingredients in the dish and bake till golden brown one hour at 350 degrees.

Lemon Puff Filling—To a rich baked pie crust add the following: First part—Beat three egg yolks until thick and lemon colored; gradually add half a cup of sugar. Mix thoroughly. Add grated rind and juice of one lemon and three tablespoons of hot water. Cook in double boiler to thin custard stage, stir continually. Second part—Add half cup sugar gradually to three beaten egg whites and gently fold into the custard or first part. Fill pie crust previously baked and brown in oven.

Suggestions

Vitamins are food substances which are to the human body what sparks are to the automobile. They are found in the natural foods. Foods highest in vitamins are milk, butter, eggs, calf's liver, vegetables, whole grain cereals and fruits.

"Vitamins promote growth, maintain vigor, build resistance to disease, protect against infection and increase length of life."

Sauer Kraut as Tonic

"Have you eaten your sauer kraut today?" might serve as a substitute for "How do you do?" in fashionable circles. Many women are eating sauer kraut these days as a tonic for the stomach. They are drinking the juice for its vitamin value. Sauer kraut is an item in the dietary of those who are trying to reduce.

O Question Box

Miss R.—1. "What is meant by an irritable heart?"

By an irritable heart is meant one that is not up to par and is easily deranged by emotions and infringements of hygienic laws.

2. "Should the breasts be much pinched and soreness after a scar nine months after an operation?"

No. Go back to your surgeon and see what is the trouble.

3. "Does nervousness ever cause pain anywhere, or difficult breathing?"

It might. It is quite evident that you need a physical check-up.

4. "Is a secretion from the breasts normal? It isn't noticeable until it hardens, an can only be removed by soaking with warm water. Should there be spots on the nipples, red most of the time, but occasionally white?"

There is no secretion from the breasts that is normal, except milk during the time of nursing, and a little watery secretion known as colostrum, which may appear before the baby is born. You have a condition in your breasts which is abnormal, and you should see a competent surgeon immediately, on account of the possibility of cancer, Miss R. Cancer is curable if taken in time.

"A cook I know, who lives with a private family, collects all the bones from the plates, guests' plates as well as the family's—to make soup. The latest I hear is that she collects the bones from the servants' plates, and then gives the soup to the family!"

"Is there not some danger of catching disease from this practice? The health of some of the people I mentioned is questionable."

The only objection to this practice is an esthetic one, A. There is no danger from disease, for the prolonged boiling which is necessary for the soup would kill the toughest disease germ.

Mrs. C.—The article on Acanthosis nigricans is self-evident. Until your boy, who is self-conscious and unhappy because his eye-brows meet over his nose, can see a skin specialist or have the hairs removed by the electric needle, he can pull them out one by one, with a pair of tweezers. The girls—old and young—have been doing some shaping of the eyebrows for years with apparently no bad results.

Mrs. K.—A cyst is any sac, normal or abnormal, especially one which contains a liquid or semi-solid. The word cyst means bladder.

The normal examples are the gall and the urinary bladder. Usually, however, when cysts are spoken of, abnormal cysts are meant. Examples of these are wens, which are sebaceous cysts due to the retention of the oily material from the oil glands; melomata, or cholesterol cysts, cysts of the oil glands in the upper eyelid; follicular cysts of the ovary, which are fairly common and are due to some inflammatory condition which prevents the follicles from rupturing as they do normally once a month. The fluids accumulate and the cysts may grow to the size of a pea or an apple, or even larger.

Living and Loving

BY MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

"The 'eternal triangle' with a new angle, is presented to me in a letter from a man in love with a married woman. The woman's husband is the man's pal, and knows about the affair, and, strange to say, he approves. Yes, 't'at's stranger than fiction." But read the letter.

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I am in love with a married woman and her three kids. She is living with her husband, who is also my pal. Every time I see her and talk to her to some show and eats. I have been loving her for six years and I can't give her up. Several times I've threatened to desert her, but when I refused to go to see her for two or three weeks she started to write to beg me to come as she said she loved me. Her husband is carefree and does not like me to stop coming to see his wife. He knows she loves me and insists on loving her. She asked me to wait for her. Of course I will wait for her, even if it takes 100 years.

"Now, Mrs. Lee, I want to know what you would say against us. Do you think it is foolish to love a married woman living with her husband and for me to wait for her? Shall I give her up? Please advise me. "D. T. L."

What are you waiting for? L. T. Let her husband do or for her to make up her mind to leave him. It doesn't seem 'on the square' 'o me for you to be pals with her husband and make love to his wife and to want her to leave him for you—if that is your desire. He must be an unusually easy-going man—or maybe he's a hypocrite. I don't love him best. I should think you would get more satisfaction out of life by trying to forget her and loving a wife of your own, but you have to answer that question yourself. No one can settle it for you. I do not think you should make love to her, however. Put yourself in your pal's place and think how you would feel if another man were making love to your wife. I can't see how any lasting happiness or satisfaction can come out of the situation you describe.

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I am a young girl, 13, and deeply in love with a boy one year my senior. You may think I am fooling, but truly I am in earnest. Mrs. Lee, now I must wait before marriage. When I ask mother she laughs and does not realize how serious I am. Please answer me, I suppose our love cannot interfere with our schooling, however. Your reader, PATSY."

You would have to be at least 18, Patsy, dear. Yes, it would be much better to finish school and you can help one another there. You can't marry until your father is able to support a family, you know, and he will need his schooling to do that. When you think of all the bills that have to be met each month, you realize that you can't go into a thing like that lightly.

N. A. Yes, write her a note and ask permission to call, or for the pleasure of her company.

BLUE BELL: Boys don't usually like to go with girls who are too stout. Why not get a good scientific reducing diet which cuts out too many starches, sugars and fats, and get yourself down to the correct weight for your height?

THE UNINVITED GUESTS
Peter was surprised at Mother Grouse's words. He and Mr. Partridge had never met that he knew of.

"Why, when did I disturb him?" asked Peter. "I haven't seen any other Partridge but you since I entered these woods." Then he remembered something he had almost forgotten.

"Was your husband that queer brown stump that scuttled into the 'shadows'?" Peter chuckled. "Now that mystery is solved. I am sorry I disturbed your husband, but he scared me so that I fell over into the leaves. If I ever meet him I shall tell him how sorry I am. I shouldn't have gone near him, but I certainly thought he was a stump."

"Well, don't talk any more now," said Mother Partridge. "There isn't time if we are going to see the show. The drumming has stopped. That means the dress parade is about to begin, perhaps it has already started."

"Hop behind that tree, boy, and peek out from behind it just as you did at the children, and you can see all that is going on. But don't move. It is the string that a Partridge notices every time."

"The children and I will stand in front of that tree so that if the cocks see anything it will be us. If you don't understand anything you see, ask me and I will tell you whatever I know about it."

"All right, thanks ever so much," said the boy, gratefully. Before the words were out of his mouth Mother Partridge had taken her stand in front of the tree, her babies grouped about her—all as still as statues, except Peter-No-Harm who was with their mother. Peter missed him but, hearing a faint noise, turned his head and there at his side stood the chap.

"Mother would be sure to scold me if I laughed at father and his friends, o I tayed back with you so's I could laugh if I wanted to. Whispered the youngster. "Just look at those old fellows, will you? All puffed out like pigeons—pround of themselves as can be. Silly things. Yet mother says that one day I shall act just so. I don't believe it. I've got more sense!"

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

HABITS FIX CHARACTER.—Can the Ethiopian change his skin, or the leopard his spots? then may ye also do good, that are accustomed to do evil.—Jeremiah 13:23.

AS GREAT AS EDISON OR EINSTEIN

The human race produces scores, perhaps hundreds, of minds in each generation which are potentially as great as those of Edison, Einstein, Ford, Shaw, Foch or Rockefeller. But the world rarely profits by these potentialities because only a handful of men in each generation develop their minds to a point approximating the inherited capacities.

The average man develops far less than half his real mental capacity, reports Myron M. Stearns, bringing out these striking estimates, made by leading psychologists and educators.

"Few men, I feel sure, ever develop a fifth of their natural brain power," he quotes Dr. Arthur H. Sutherland, widely known experimental psychologist of Los Angeles. "A tenth is more nearly correct for most men."

"Psychologists in the main agree that the average man develops less than half of his brain inheritance," reports Mr. Stearns. "The majority of the estimates run from 40 per cent. of the total down to 25 per cent."

Extended tests conducted by Prof. Edward L. Thorndyke of Columbia university and others have proved that the adult until he reaches 50 or more, is generally as capable of learning anything from simple games to foreign languages as a child. Mr. Stearns points out. The adult can change his habits, his profession or job, his pleasures and his entire state of life, often to his advantage, while in his middle years. The axiom to the effect that you can't teach an old dog new tricks has been completely disproved.

But the fact is, the psychologists have found, that most of us stop learning voluntarily, usually in our middle teens, and almost always before we have reached 25. Of the 25,000,000 children now in school, the estimates show, 15,000,000 will not pass the eighth grade. Of the remaining 10,000,000 two-thirds will not finish high school. Only 1,000,000 will enter college, and only one-third of these will graduate.

"There we have the problem of our arrested development in a nutshell," says Mr. Stearns. "Although a thousand and one reasons are given by boys who leave school and go to work, the one big underlying reason is that they don't want to go to school any longer. Other things are of more interest than continuing mere mental development. They want to make use of the knowledge they already have, in securing money, adventure, an immediate place in the world, or a good time."

The development of the normal person is halted by himself merely because he is willing to accept what he has, and is willing to make the necessary effort for further progress.

Your BROADWAY

By Walter Winchell And Mine

NEW YORK.—There is a moving picture triumph in New York that attracts capacity audiences at every performance, but the great picture has killed six persons. The number of spectators have died in the theater while witnessing the film, not being able, it is presumed, to check their grief during its more tense episodes.

ALWAYS BELITTLIN'

F. P. A.'s col'n in the World has been anxious to discover the origin of the phrase "Main Stem." During the week-end Mr. Adams recorded that a lady friend in the west had written him that "Main Stem" was used by George Ade in a book, but when he asked her to name the tome she failed to answer. Yesterday this detective was notified by Morris Markey that "Main Stem" was hobo slang. Being a most incessant employee of the expression, we hoped to be able to help F. P. A. solve his problem, but for the life of us we cannot remember from whom we swiped it.

EARL CARROLL'S LATEST

Earl Carroll started first night spectators with his newest extravaganza, christened "Florieta." It is listed in the playbills as a "romantic Venetian comedy," but it is more than that. "Florieta" with its elegantly appointed mountings, upholstery, colorings, drapes and spears, lances, trumpets and girls, is indeed the handsomest production seen on the local platform in over so long a while, and when Miss Florina Bree tardily made her initial appearance, "Florieta" became a treat for the ear as well as for the orb.

It obviously was prepared at a great cost. One expert on such things remarked that it probably cost about $150,000, but a quarter of a million dollars may be more appropriate. For "Florieta" is an incessant parade of eye-filling wardrobe and hangings, gorgeous designs and extremely beautiful women. With a more distinguished score, the stunning presentation might have been the greatest of all shows.

The Way of the World

BY GROVE PATTERSON

BURNS
January called the birthday of Robert Burns, whom Carlyle called, "The greatest Scotchman who ever lived." It was Burns who illuminated life's commonplace scenes and experiences with the beauty of words and imagination and love. Burns was great in humanity. He was great in his understanding of the common people—and most of us are common people. He was great in his knowledge of the heart of man. Read in Burns:

"Tis thus the royal mandate ran,
When first the human race began,
The social, friendly, honest man,
What 'ere he be—
'Tis he fulfills great Nature's plan,
And none but he."

THE END OF WAR
A Japanese Rotarian by the name of Miyazaki says: "There are no boundaries or sovereignties in our brotherhood. If the same feeling which characterizes us characterized the actions of government, there would be no international questions." War is made by the spirit of national leaders.

Rarely do the people force nations into war. Leaders may wish to have it appear that they are in the hands of the people but too often that is by no means the case. They may be far ahead or far behind the people. The overwhelming power for international peace lies in leadership.

SKIMMERS

Those who skim through good books get less for their time than those who read fewer books—thoughtfully. The acquisition of language, of the power of expression, is of great and increasing importance. Language is learned from the best writers. Read the best writers carefully, slowly, over and over. And remember when you pick up a book to put this question to yourself: "Have I time for this? If I read THIS I can't read THAT."

USE OF PNEUMATIC TUBES BETWEEN AIRPORTS

PREDICTED
By W. IRVING GLOVER
Second Assistant Postmaster General

Warren Irving Glover was born at Brooklyn, Oct. 2, 1879. He was educated in the public schools and began as a boy in the employ of a commission merchant in New York City, continuing as a distributor in woolen trade until 1906. In that year he organized the Aton Holding corporation, a real estate concern. He served as a member of the New Jersey assembly from 1916 to 1921 and as speaker in 1920. During the next four years he was third assistant postmaster general and has been second assistant since 1925. His home is in Englewood, N. J.

The post office department, at all times, has in mind the quickest and speediest delivery of air mail, and I believe that, in the near future the volume of air mail will increase and become so important that all the principal air mail fields of the country will be connected with the post offices by pneumatic tubes which will insure a delivery of air mail at the office within five minutes after landing on the field. In many cases this will mean a saving of half an hour and, in some cases in various cities of the system, a greater saving in time.

The expense will not be so great as one might imagine and I am sure there are companies which would be glad to begin the installation of tube service between post offices and air mail fields. Can you picture the saving in time that it would mean for the air mail of New York City which will shortly be landing in Newark, N. J., if some could be transported by tube to the Hudson terminal and there be distributed by air present installed city tube service to other post office stations of the city.

Just at the moment there are several great national passenger-carrying companies ready to announce the inauguration of passenger-carrying lines from New York to Los Angeles, and other distant points. How long after that a passenger-carrying line is in successful operation say from New York to Los Angeles, is the business man (where speed is the very essence of the movement) going to be content to allow his business mail to be carried by train with a journey of five days when there is a line of passenger carrying planes in operation over the route covering the same distance in 30 hours? The answer is simply this, that the post office department, under the legislation which it now has to contract for the carrying of first-class two-cent mail in the air at a rate of 60 cents a pound, will just be compelled by the demands made upon it by the business people of the country to carry this class of mail whenever possible, in the air. And my belief is that, within the next year, there will be many such lines put into operation, where the carrying of first class mail in the air will prove a great benefit to the mailing public.

BOOMERANG
Harpo Marx, one of the hilarious Four Marxmen, is an adult comedian. He specializes in pantomime, and it is said that he hasn't spoken a word in the past fifteen years while performing. He extracts robust laughter with a gesture. For many years the moving picture impresarios tried to bargain with him. Some of the producers believed he could be another Chaplin. Harpo argued that getting up in the mornings would not only interfere with his croquet, but there was plenty of time to do the stage for the films. Recently, however, he decided to enter the flickers. And then it dawned on him that his chances for great success had been dimmed by the "talkie" vogue.

THE TURKEY TROT-SKY

How to Achieve Beauty

BY MRS. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

It had oftentimes been said that the choice of the accessories is of greater importance than the clothes themselves. You can readily visualize the woman with the last year's suit, who nevertheless looks decidedly smart because her shoes, stockings, gloves and purse are all in harmony and good taste. On the other hand, ill-chosen and poorly matched accessories can ruin the effect of the most expensive garments.

The choice of the shoes and stockings is of the utmost importance. Try always to select a shoe which is appropriate to the costume you are wearing and to the occasion, where it is worn. For the little woman shoes should blend with the hosiery and the hosiery should match the frock, so as to give a long unbroken line. On the whole, light shades in stockings are better than dark for this woman. A high-heeled shoe will give additional height. To wear the hat and the shoes in the same color is a very good note. Jewelry should not be too massive or overpowering; comparatively slender bracelets and small earrings are best. Purse should not be too massive or overpowering; comparatively slender bracelets and small earrings are best. Purse should be of medium size and not strike too definite a contrast in color. Let the little woman see to it that her accessories do not dwarf her.

Behind the Scenes in Washington

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON.—Senator Reed Smoot of Utah, is naturally grave, not to say lugubrious, of mien. But my! His aspect was jocund until recently compared with what it is now.

No wonder, considering the job they say Herbert Hoover sold him with at that conference they had in Florida a few days ago. From all accounts, the president-elect wants his administration to get along on a great deal less money than President Coolidge's administration required but to spend a great deal more. Senator Smoot's task is to figure out ways and means of accomplishing this result.

Mr. Hoover is understood to believe the Utah senator can do it if anybody can. The senator is reputed to have been born with a flair for the job. A ledger was his favorite grade school text book and he specialized in accounting at Brigham Young academy. Then he became a banker.

On his arrival in Washington they promptly pitchedforked him into the senate finance committee. That was a long time ago—more than a quarter of a century. During all those years he's fairly soaked in government receipts and expenditures.

Smoot not only has been a member hutch airman of the senate's finance committee since nobody but the oldest lawmakers knows when. He's also ranking member of the appropriation committee.

He served in the World War foreign debt commission and still serves on the joint committee on internal revenue taxation. He helped to invent the budget system.

Grapefruit cut up with dates makes a change from the usual grapefruit or orange starter for the breakfast and is also economical, as it makes the grapefruit go further. The amounts are for four people.

Today's Recipes

Ham and Macaroni Scallops—Nineteen sticks macaroni, one cup minced ham two tablespoons butter, one tablespoon flour, one cup milk, one-fourth teaspoon pepper or green pepper if you like it, two tablespoons grated cheese, one-half cup bread crumbs. Break macaroni in short lengths and cook in boiling salted water until tender. (About 30 minutes.) Make a sauce by blending the butter and flour smoothly, adding milk to the mixture and boil. Add pepper, but no salt as the ham will sufficiently salt it. Grease a baking dish and place in it alternate layers of macaroni and sauce, sprinkling a little of the cheese over each layer of the macaroni. Melt another tablespoon of butter, add the crumbs to it, and stir until they have absorbed the butter. Spread over the ingredients in the dish and bake till golden brown one hour at 350 degrees.

Lemon Puff Filling.—To a rich baked pie crust add the following: First part—Beat three egg yolks until thick and lemon colored; gradually add half a cup of sugar. Mix thoroughly. Add grated rind and juice of one lemon and three tablespoons of not water. Cook in double boiler to thin custard stage, stir continuously. Second part—Add half cup sugar gradually to three beaten egg whites and gently fold into the custard or first part. Fill pie crust previously baked and brown in oven.

Suggestions

Vitamins are food substances which are to the human body what sparks are to the automobile. They are found in the natural foods. Foods highest in vitamins are milk, butter, eggs, calf's liver, vegetables, whole grain cereals and fruits.

"Vitamins promote growth, maintain vigor, build resistance to disease, protect against infection and increase length of life."

Sauer Kraut as Tonic
"Have you eaten your sauer kraut today?" might serve as a substitute for "How do you do?" in fashionable circles. Many women are eating sauer kraut these days as a tonic for the stomach. They are drinking the juice for its vitamin value. Sauer kraut is an item in the diet of those who are trying to reduce.

Now it's explained to him.

Diet and Health

O Question Box

Miss R.—"What is meant by an irritable heart?"

By an irritable heart is meant one that is not up to par and is easily deranged by emotions and infringements of hygienic laws.

2. "Should there be much pain and soreness after a scar nine months after an operation?"

3. "Go back to your surgeon and see what is the trouble."

3. "Does nervousness ever cause pain anywhere, or difficult breathing?"

It might. It is quite evident that you need a physical check-up.

4. "Is a secretion from the breasts normal?" It isn't noticeable until it hardens, and can only be removed by soaking with warm water. Should there be spots on the nipples, red most of the time, but occasionally white?

There is no secretion from the breasts that is normal, except milk during the time of nursing, and a little watery secretion known as colostrum, which may appear before the baby is born. You have a condition in your breasts which is abnormal, and you should see a competent surgeon immediately, on account of the possibility of cancer, Miss R. Cancer is curable if taken in time.

"A cook I know, who lives with a private family, collects all the bones from the plates—guests' plates as well as the family's—to make soup. The latest I hear is that she collects the bones from the servants' plates, and then gives the soup to the family!"

"Is there not some danger of catching disease from this practice? The health of some of the people I mentioned is questionable."

The only objection to this practice is an aesthetic one. A. There is no danger from disease, for the prolonged boiling which is necessary for the soup would kill the toughest disease germ.

Miss R.—The article on A. will answer your questions.

Until your boy, who is self-conscious and unhappy because his eye-brows meet over his nose, can see a skin specialist or have the hair removed by the electric needle, he can pull them out one by one, with a pair of tweezers. The girls—old and young—have been doing some shaping of the eyebrows for years with approximately no bad results.

Mrs. K.—A cyst is any enc. normal or abnormal especially one which contains a liquid or semi-solid. The word cyst means bladder.

The normal examples are the gall and the urinary bladders. Usually, however, when cysts are spoken of, abnormal cysts are meant. Examples of these are warts, which are sebaceous cysts due to the retention of the oily material from the oil glands; melioidosis or chalazion cysts, cysts of the oil glands in the upper eyelid; follicular cysts of the ovary, which are fairly common and are due to some inflammatory condition which prevents the follicles from rupturing as they do normally once a month. The fluids accumulate and the cysts may grow to the size of a pea or an apple, or even larger.

Living and Loving

BY MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

The "eternal triangle" with a new angle, is presented to me in a letter from a man in love with a married woman. The woman's husband is the man's pal, and knows about the affair, and, strange to say, he approves. Verily, "truth is stranger than fiction." But read the letter.

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I am in love with a married woman and her three kids. She is living with her husband, who is also my pal. Every week and I see her and take her to some shows and eat. I have been loving her for six years and I can't give her up. Several times I've threatened to desert her, but when I refused to go to see her for two or three weeks she started to write to beg me to come as she said she loved me. Her husband is carefree and does not like me to step coming to see his wife. He knows she loves me and insists on loving her. She asked me to wait for her. Of course I will wait for her, even if it takes 100 years."

"Now, Mrs. Lee, I want to know what you would say against me. Do you think it is foolish to love a married woman living with her husband and for me to wait for her? Shall I give her up? Please advise me."

What are you waiting for, D. L.? For her husband to die or for her to make up her mind to leave him? It doesn't seem to me the "square" to me for you to be pals with her husband and make love to his wife and to wait for her to leave him for you—if that is your desire. He must be an unusually easy-going man—or maybe she assures him that she loves him best. I should think you would get more satisfaction from life by trying to forget her and loving a wife of your own, but you have to answer that question yourself. No one can settle it for you. I do not think you should make love to her, however. Put yourself in your pal's place and think how you would feel if another man was making love to your wife. I can't see how any lasting happiness or satisfaction can come out of the situation you describe.

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I am a young girl, 13, and deeply in love with a boy one year my senior. You may think I am foolish, but truly I am in earnest. Mrs. Lee, how long must we wait before marriage? When I ask mother she laughs and does not realize how serious I am. Please answer me. I suppose our love cannot interfere with our schooling, however. Your reader, PATSY."

You would have to be at least 18, Patsy, dear. Yes, it would be much better to finish school and you can help one another there. You can't marry until your father is able to support a family, you know, and he will need his schooling to do that. When you think of all the bills that have to be met each month, you realize that you can't go into a thing like that lightly.

N. A. Yes, write her a note and ask permission to call, or for the pleasure of her company.

BLUE BELLS: Boys don't usually like to go with girls who are too stout. Why not get a good scientific reducing diet which cuts out too many starches, sugars and fats, and get yourself down to the correct weight for your height?

THE UNWITTED GUESTS

Peter was surprised at Mother Grouse's words. He and Mr. Partridge had never met that he knew of.

"Why, when did I disturb him?" asked Peter. "I haven't seen any other Partridge since I entered these woods." Then he remembered something he had almost forgotten.

"Was your husband that queer brown stump that scuttled off into the shadows?" Peter chuckled. "Now that mystery is solved. I am sorry I disturbed your husband, but he scared me so that I fell over into the leaves. If I ever met him I shall tell him how sorry I am. I shouldn't have gone near him, but I certainly thought he was a stump."

"Well, don't talk any more now," said Mother Partridge. "There isn't the time if we are going to see the show. The drumming has stopped. That means the dress parade is about to begin, perhaps it has already started."

"Hop behind that tree, boy, and peek out from behind it just as you did at the children, and you can see all that is going on. But don't move. It is the string that a Partridge notices every time."

"The children and I will stand in front of that tree so that if the cocks see anything it will be us. If you don't understand anything you see, ask me (only he sure that you whisper) and I will tell you whatever I know about it."

"All right, thanks ever so much," said the boy gratefully. Before the words were out of his mouth Mother Partridge had taken her stand in front of the tree, her babies grouped about her—all as still as statues, except

MANY FROZEN WATER PIPES REPORTED

Cold weather is giving T. H. Zell, superintendent of the municipal waterworks plant, plenty of grief these days.

Complaints have been pouring in steadily from consumers regarding frozen water pipes and Superintendent Zell points out that if residents would only take a few simple precautionary measures, freezing of pipes would easily be averted.

"Windows located near water pipes or meters should not be left open," he declares.

Consumers are also warned to be careful when the thawing process begins. Frozen pipes should be called to the attention of the water department at once or they may crack, he said.

THEATER GUILD TO MAKE DEBUT HERE TUESDAY EVENING

The Xenia Little Theater Guild will make its debut to local people with a presentation of the Pulitzer prize play, "Craig's Wife," a three-act drama, at City Hall Theater Tuesday night at 8:15 o'clock.

Rehearsals for the production have been completed and the ticket sale is also progressing above expectations. Xenians will have but the one opportunity to witness this particular play but the Guild is planning to present three more plays this season.

Miss Esther Smith, as "Mrs. Craig," and Harry A. Higgins, as "Mr. Craig," have the title roles in the production. Mr. Higgins needs no introduction locally while Miss Smith has been engaged in instruction of dramatic art here for several years.

Other members of the cast are also familiar to local lovers of amateur theatricals and include: Mrs. J. B. Mason, the Misses Elsie Canby, Helen Ford, Helen Hurley and Alice Foley, Charles Bone, Harry Kierman, L. M. Hyman and George Swartz.

MANY FROZEN WATER PIPES REPORTED

Cold weather is giving T. H. Zell, superintendent of the municipal waterworks plant, plenty of grief these days.

Complaints have been pouring in steadily from consumers regarding frozen water pipes and Superintendent Zell points out that if residents would only take a few simple precautionary measures, freezing of pipes would easily be averted.

"Windows located near water pipes or meters should not be left open," he declares.

Consumers are also warned to be careful when the thawing process begins. Frozen pipes should be called to the attention of the water department at once or they may crack, he said.

THREE WAYS TO LOSE FAT

One is starvation, one abnormal exercise. The other is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. The Marmola way is based on modern research. It has been used for 20 years—millions of boxes of it. The results are seen in almost every circle, in new beauty, new health and vitality.

A book in each box of Marmola gives the complete formula, also the reasons for results. Users know just how and why the changes come about, and why they are beneficial. Learn the facts. Try the scientific help which has done so much for so many, and watch what it does for you. Start today by asking your druggist for a $1 box of Marmola.

Chest Colds Need Direct Treatment

It is an obstinate cold indeed that can resist the direct double action of Vicks. Rubbed on the chest, it acts 2 ways at once:

- (1) Direct to air passages with its healing vapors released by body heat;
- (2) Direct, like a poultice, it "draws out" the soreness.

WINS SECOND PRIZE IN ESSAY CONTEST AMONG BOY SCOUTS

The following essay submitted by Scout Richard Stiles, 13, of the Indian Patrol, Troop No. 45, Boy Scouts of America, for which he is awarded an official Scout flashlight, was adjudged by the Court of Honor committee as the second best essay received in the essay contest recently sponsored by the Xenia District Scout committee on the subject, "Why I Am A Boy Scout."

The reason I am a Boy Scout is that I may develop into the best citizen possible. At the Scout camp I am associated with boys who have the same ideals as I have.

We receive training to be trustworthy, loyal, helpful to others, friendly, courteous, kind, obedient, cheerful, thrifty, brave, clean, and reverent. If every citizen of our country would possess these qualifications, we would have no equal as a nation in the entire world. A kind act daily by everyone to everyone would fill the earth with happiness and good will.

Our camping out of doors gives us an opportunity to study nature in the form of plants and living creatures, and no boy will deny that he ever has had a better time anywhere else.

Here he watches the squirrel leaping from branch to branch and from tree to tree, always trying to hide himself from being seen by the person and finally slipping into some unseen place, which he calls his home.

The birds are a source of delight with their various songs and calls and no scout will ever forget the weird sound of a hoot-owl on a dark night.

As a Boy Scout the social life is a very inviting feature especially when we have "feeds." Here we learn how to conduct ourselves in a proper way. In our business meetings the training is worthwhile. For by learning how a meeting should be conducted we not only are helpful to ourselves but to others and here we put into practice the oath that we have taken. Not only to serve ourselves but to serve others and do those things that are right and best for the greater number for the Scout Oath says:

On my honor I will do my best—
1. To do my duty to God and my country, and to obey the Scout law.

2. To help other people at all times.
3. To keep myself physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight.

A boy with a strong body and mind will naturally develop into a strong and influential citizen—a great need of our nation.

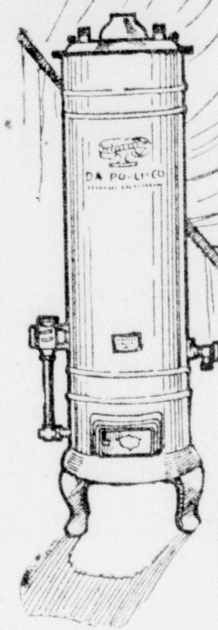

The benefits of being a Boy Scout are without limit and I have only mentioned a few of the many advantages that are to be obtained from Scout life.

Missing Boy Found?

All indications point to recovery alive of Billy Gaffney (above), Brooklyn, N. Y., boy missing since Feb. 11, 1927, on ranch near Newell, S. D., where he was found wandering more than a year and a half ago. The case of Billy is one of the most famous in history or New York's Missing Persons' Bureau.

BENDER BILL AGAIN BEFORE HOUSE; MAY BE RECONSIDERED

Floor Leader Loses Fight
For Early Action On
Bill

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 12.—The Bender bill, to reduce the tax on insurance premiums collected in Ohio by foreign insurance companies from three to two and a half per cent, was back before the house for consideration today, despite the fact that it had already been approved by the senate and passed once in the lower chamber.

The vote by which the bill passed the house last Thursday was reconsidered last night on motion of floor leader Arthur Hamilton. The reason for the reconsideration, Hamilton explained, was so the bill might be amended to permit the state to collect the tax at the three per cent rate for 1928 and during 1929 until the new act became effective.

The house voted to reconsider, but when the scrap was on Rep. Ray C. Carpenter, Seneca County, pointed out that the amendment he offered last week, only to meet opposition from Hamilton and to be voted down, accomplished in effect what the floor leader now wanted done. He argued that his original amendment, to make the reduction effective Jan. 6, 1930, should be adopted instead of that proposed by Hamilton.

His amendment, Carpenter said, would give the state the tax at the three per cent rate for 1928 and would eliminate the possibility of a battle over collecting the tax at that rate for part of 1929. Carpenter's stand was supported by Rep. Horace S. Kiefer, Springfield, who made a motion to change Hamilton's amendment so the three per cent tax would apply to 1928 business and not to any part of that done in 1929. Hamilton opposed this amendment, and it was voted down by the house.

Kiefer then proposed that further consideration of the bill should be postponed but Hamilton opposed this motion, urging immediate action, but the house bolted its leader and adopted the postponement motion by vote of 50 to 45.

COMMISSION WILL APPROVE NEW COURT

City Commission will decide at its regular meeting Thursday night what type of court the state legislature will be asked to create for Xenia, replacing the present mayor's court, established in 1926 after the old police court was declared unconstitutional by the Ohio Supreme Court.

City Solicitor J. A. Finney expects to present information he has gathered regarding the advantages and disadvantages of a police court and also a municipal court.

Commissioners have definitely decided to authorize the introduction of a bill in the legislature providing for one of the two types of courts believed to be suitable for Xenia. The only matter still undecided is which court is the best for local needs.

When your child is sleepless.

This remedy rarely fails.

Constipation is a common cause of sleeplessness, both in children and adults. When a child is wakeful and fretful, see if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign the stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour, irritating waste.

Simply give a dose of "California Fig Syrup," and in a few hours all the sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels, and you have no more anxiety over the child's excitability and wakefulness at night. Children love this harmless "fruity" laxative. It banishes biliousness and constipation, regulates the bowels and insures pure blood, a clear complexion, joyous spirits, a keen brain, healthy appetite and helps to build a strong constitution.

See that the Fig Syrup you buy bears the name "California," so you won't be imposed on by imitators.

XENIA PRISONER AWARDED PAROLE

John Morgan, colored, this city, is included among a list of eighty-six persons serving terms in Ohio State Penitentiary and the London Prison Farm who were granted parole by the Board of Clemency at Columbus Monday.

Morgan becomes eligible for parole March 15 from Ohio Penitentiary. He was sentenced on a robbery charge about a year ago.

WARNS BOYS

Police Chief M. E. Graham issued a warning Tuesday against the practice of boys with sleds hanging on to the rear of automobiles. Chief Graham discourages this practice declaring that serious accidents may result and that motorists will be partly to blame.

OFFICES CLOSED

Xenians observed Tuesday as a holiday in commemoration of the birthday anniversary of Abraham Lincoln. Banks, building and loan associations, county offices and city official programs were presented by students in schools, which did not close for the holiday.

KENNEDY'S

WINS SECOND PRIZE IN ESSAY CONTEST AMONG BOY SCOUTS

The following essay submitted by Scout Richard Stiles, 13, of the Indian Patrol, Troop No. 45, Boy Scouts of America, for which he is awarded an official Scout flashlight, was adjudged by the Court of Honor committee as the second best essay received in the essay contest recently sponsored by the Xenia District Scout committee on the subject, "Why I Am A Boy Scout."

The reason I am a Boy Scout is that I may develop into the best citizen possible. At the Scout camp I am associated with boys who have the same ideals as I have.

We receive training to be trustworthy, loyal, helpful to others, friendly, courteous, kind, obedient, cheerful, thrifty, brave, clean, and reverent. If every citizen of our country would possess these qualifications, we would have no equal, as a nation, in the entire world. A kind act daily by everyone to everyone would fill the earth with happiness and good will.

Our camping out of doors gives us an opportunity to study nature in the form of plants and living creatures, and no boy will deny that he ever has had a better time anywhere else.

Here he watches the squirrel leaping from branch to branch and from tree to tree, always trying to hide himself from being seen by the person and finally slipping into some unseen place, which he calls his home.

The birds are a source of delight with their various songs and calls and no scout will ever forget the weird sound of a hoot-owl on a dark night.

As a Boy Scout the social life is a very inviting feature especially when we have "feeds." Here we learn how to conduct ourselves in a proper way. In our business meetings the training is worthwhile. For by learning how a meeting should be conducted we not only are helpful to ourselves but to others and here we put into practice the oath that we have taken. Not only to serve ourselves but to serve others and do those things that are right and best for the greater number for the Scout Oath says:

On my honor I will do my best—
1. To do my duty to God and my country, and to obey the Scout law.

2. To help other people at all times.
3. To keep myself physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight.

A boy with a strong body and mind will naturally develop into a strong and influential citizen—a great need of our nation.

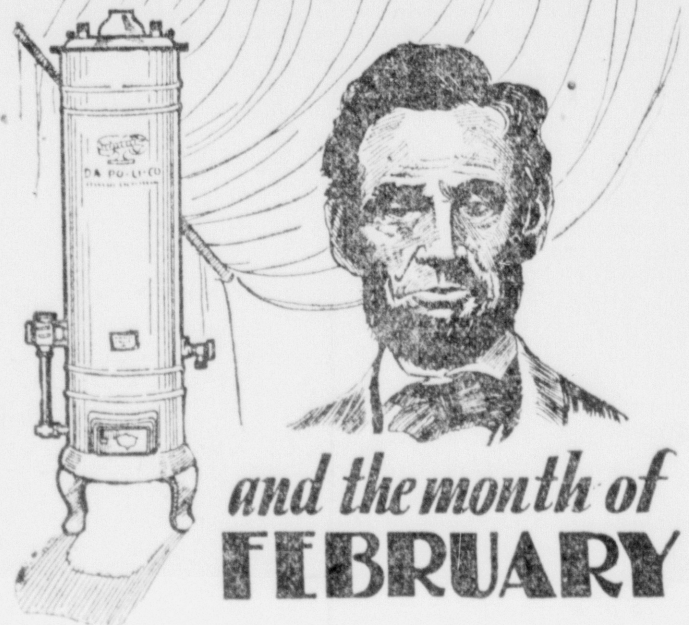

The benefits of being a Boy Scout are without limit and I have only mentioned a few of the many advantages that are to be obtained from Scout life.

Missing Boy Found?

All indications point to recovery alive of Billy Gaffney (above), Brooklyn, N. Y., boy missing since Feb. 11, 1927, on ranch near Newell, S. D., where he was found wandering more than a year and a half ago. The case of Billy is one of the most famous in history or New York's Missing Persons' Bureau.

Two great EMANCIPATORS

Yesterday—The month of February gave us Abraham Lincoln, the great president, who freed the slaves.

Today—February gives us another great emancipation—a real money saving offer on the DA-PO-LI-CO automatic storage water heater. We can free your home from the inconvenience of water heating by the stove or range boiler.

Trade in your present heater and secure a credit of $10.00 on a new DA-PO-LI-CO.

COULD NOT DO

HER WORK

Strengthened by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Berlin, N. H.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when I was in a family way because I was run-down and falling away every day. My food wouldn't digest and I could not do my work. I had to have a hired girl all the time. I took several medicines before I tried yours but none would help me. A friend told me about the Vegetable Compound and told me to try it as it would help me a lot. Your medicines have done me a lot of good and I cannot praise them enough. I will answer any letters that ask me what Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines have done for me. Write to WILHELM AMER, 627 Burgess St., Berlin, N. H."

Big Battle Ahead

Cornelia Boyce Pinchot of Pennsylvania is of the opinion that the public will have to watch power interests closely or they will gobble up all the benefits to be derived for the government's huge power project at Boulder Dam.

BENDER BILL AGAIN BEFORE HOUSE; MAY BE RECONSIDERED

Floor Leader Loses Fight
For Early Action On
Bill

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 12.—The Bender bill, to reduce the tax on insurance premiums collected in Ohio by foreign insurance companies from three to two and a half per cent, was back before the house for consideration today, despite the fact that it had already been approved by the senate and passed once in the lower chamber.

The vote by which the bill passed the house last Thursday was reconsidered last night on motion of floor leader Arthur Hamilton. The reason for the reconsideration, Hamilton explained, was so the bill might be amended to permit the state to collect the tax at the three per cent rate for 1928 and during 1929 until the new act became effective.

The house voted to reconsider, but when the scrap was on Rep. Ray C. Carpenter, Seneca County, pointed out that the amendment he offered last week, only to meet opposition from Hamilton and to be voted down, accomplished in effect what the floor leader now wanted done. He argued that his original amendment, to make the reduction effective Jan. 6, 1930, should be adopted instead of that proposed by Hamilton.

His amendment, Carpenter said, would give the state the tax at the three per cent rate for 1928 and would eliminate the possibility of a battle over collecting the tax at that rate for part of 1929.

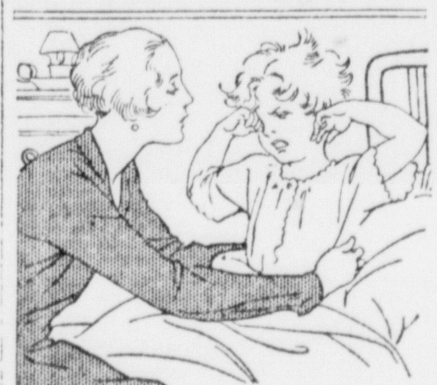

Carpenter's stand was supported by Rep. Horace S. Kiser, Springfield, who made a motion to change Hamilton's amendment so the three per cent tax would apply to 1928 business and not to any part of that done in 1929. Hamilton opposed this motion, urging immediate action, but the house bolted its leader and adopted the postponement motion by vote of 59 to 45.

COMMISSION WILL APPROVE NEW COURT

City Commission will decide at its regular meeting Thursday night what type of court the state legislature will be asked to create for Xenia, replacing the present mayor's court, established in 1926 after the old police court was declared unconstitutional by the Ohio Supreme Court.

City Solicitor J. A. Finney expects to present information he has gathered regarding the advantages and disadvantages of a police court and also a municipal court.

Commissioners have definitely decided to authorize the introduction of a bill in the legislature proposing the creation of a new court.

When your child is sleepless.

This remedy rarely fails.

Constipation is a common cause of sleeplessness, both in children and adults. When a child is wakeful and fretful, see if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign the stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour, irritating waste. Simply give a dose of "California Fig Syrup," and in a few hours all the sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels, and you have no more anxiety over the child's excitability and wakefulness at night. Children love this harmless "fruity" laxative. It banishes biliousness and constipation, regulates the bowels and insures pure blood, a clear complexion, joyous spirits, a keen brain, healthy appetite and helps to build a strong constitution. See that the Fig Syrup you buy bears the name "California," so you won't be imposed on by imitators.

viding for one of the two types of courts believed to be suitable for Xenia. The only matter still undecided is which court is the best for local needs.

The third morning she was awakened by screams.

"Oh! Woe! Lemme alone before I kill one of you! Who said I wanted to be a dancer? I am a wrecked woman! Get away, or I'll come back from the grave and haunt you! I know I'm going to die!"

On a neighboring bed was one of the new girls. Around her were two of the experienced dancers. They were pounding her legs and shoulders with the edges of their hands like a butcher pounding hamburger steak on a block. They laughed as she howled. There arose the pungent odor of liniment.

Betty arose to see the fun and let out a groan of her own. Every muscle in her body was so sore she could hardly step out on the floor. She dropped back on her bed, and at the cry of "First Aid" found herself surrounded by a squad similar to that working on the other girl. She was so sore that every one of their light blows hurt cruelly, but she set her teeth to endure what she knew was for her own good.

Bar work that morning was little short of torture, although she worked on grimly instead of dropping out, as did several new girls.

At the end of this she was rewarded by one girl beside her saying: "Atta Gal! You are game enough to be a dancer!"

In a few days Betty's muscles were supple and pliable, so dancing left her tired but not sore. She had what Mrs. Casey called a Presbyterian leg. Her left leg gave her

READ THIS FIRST:

Betty Brown, unnoticed by men, believes her lack of charm comes from cultivation of her mind instead of her body. She attends the school of a dancing school and determines to take up dancing, and goes to a summer dancing camp for that purpose. She is charmed with the place, but shocked at the body unconscionableness of the twenty-six girls studying there.

CHAPTER XI

Betty had expected to begin her first day at the Seikoff camp with a leisurely bath and a half an hour devoted to beautifying herself. To be met, as she had dressed and all together trowly in the chill seven o'clock air of an early June morning was not her idea of a good time.

Outside the studio door was a wooden platform alongside of which ran a railing of heavy iron pipe about four feet high. This, then, was the bar they talked about so much. Beside it stood the odd pupils. Betty and the other beginners were assigned places between the more experienced girls and told to follow the exercises as best they could, there being no time for explanations so early in the morning.

A wheezy little portable phonograph started a one-two-three-four tune. The girl supervising announced an exercise. Betty stumbled along somehow with kicks, stretches, backbends, extensions. The last few minutes of the half hour she lay on the platform in front of the bar, rolling on her stomach, trying to stam on her shoulders, doing more kicks.

When the half hour was over, they raced as one girl to the swimming pool and dove in. The water was icy cold, but they swam and spashed around until the "Get ready for Breakfast" gong sounded.

Back in the dormitory they changed to dry bathing suits, prettied up, and, slipping on smocks, arrived in the dining tent ahead of breakfast. After the meal there was a rest hour before the first class, but between making beds, straightening up, taking care of wet bathing suits, and all the talking that had to be done, Betty got little rest.

Betty's first class was in acrobatic dancing, which seemed rather like bar work only done on the floor. Then an hour of loose dancing, which, while not so strenuous, was tiring after the acrobatic work.

An hour's leisure was for bathing or resting, followed by the mid-day meal, with an hour's rest afterward; then two hours more were devoted to up and the preparation for the dancing. After this another swim. Betty attracted favorable comment because she swam and dived well.

After supper and in the studio, Seikoff announced: "The new girls are out of this folk dancing if they are tired, and Betty was glad enough to see that several of the girls promptly retired to the rugs and divans to watch. Because of the practice many put in this, the fifth hour of dancing, seemingly without fatigue.

Betty was now able to separate the experienced dancers from the newer ones. As she watched their flashing arms and legs, saw their graceful posing and the ease with which they learned new steps, she knew her summer would not be spent in vain.

They were all graceful, all agile, and all in splendid physical condition. In the simple road, the steady, bodily regime, and made them beautiful in body, even if nature had not been so kind to some of them in the face.

Betty did not wait for ten o'clock to retire, but went to the dormitory early. Happy with this new experience, the chatter and laughter of the girls at ten came to her but hazy and dreamily.

The third morning she was awakened by screams.

"Oh! Woe! Lemme alone before I kill one of you! Who said I wanted to be a dancer? I am a wrecked woman! Get away, or I'll come back from the grave and haunt you! I know I'm going to die!"

RAILROAD TO AWARD TWO SCHOLARSHIPS FOR FARMING WORK

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad announces that it will award again this year two one-hundred dollar scholarships in this state to the boy and girl who most efficiently complete their project in agricultural club work during 1929.

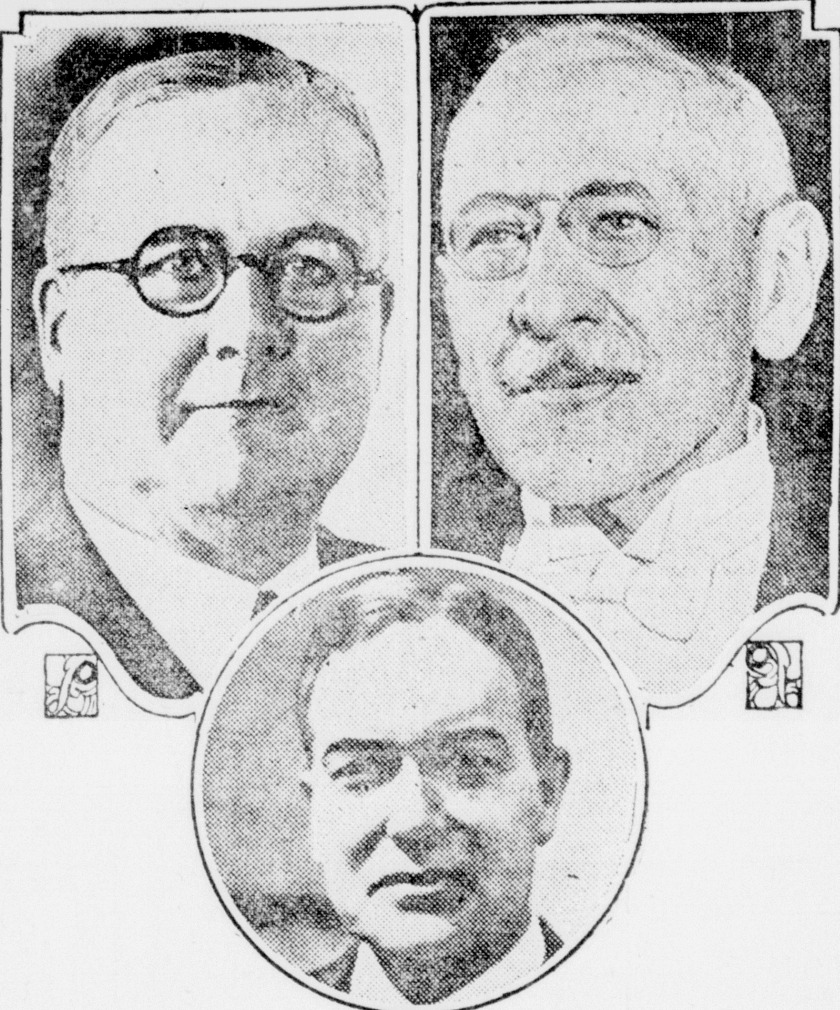

A club member may compete for this scholarship by entering any type of club work recognized and supervised by Ohio State University Agricultural Extension Service such as: calf clubs, pig clubs, poultry clubs, corn clubs, potato clubs, sewing clubs, canning clubs, etc. A club member may enter the contest by having his county agricultural agent or county club leader enroll his name with the Agricultural Development Department of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, Baltimore, Md.

The winners of the Baltimore and Ohio scholarships may use them at any recognized college in the country.

The Baltimore and Ohio has awarded ninety scholarships to date, nearly fifty winners of which are now enrolled as students or have already graduated from colleges in the states of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware, Virginia and West Virginia.

Nell Talbott, of Jamestown, who won one of the B. and O. scholarships two years ago, was awarded the cash instead of taking advantage of the scholarship. At his request, the winner of the prize being given his preference in that regard.

Rockefeller Claims Froxy Victory

What Julius Rosenwald, right, of Chicago, had to do with the victory which John D. Rockefeller, below, claims in his battle of proxies for control of the Standard Oil of Indiana, is problematical. The efforts of Rockefeller to obtain control were actuated by his desire to oust Colonel Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the Board of Directors, who flaunted the financier's wishes in regard to testimony before the Senate committee during the oil scandal investigations. The Chicago financier had only recently sided with Mr. Rockefeller.

PROOF OF DYES is in the dyeing!

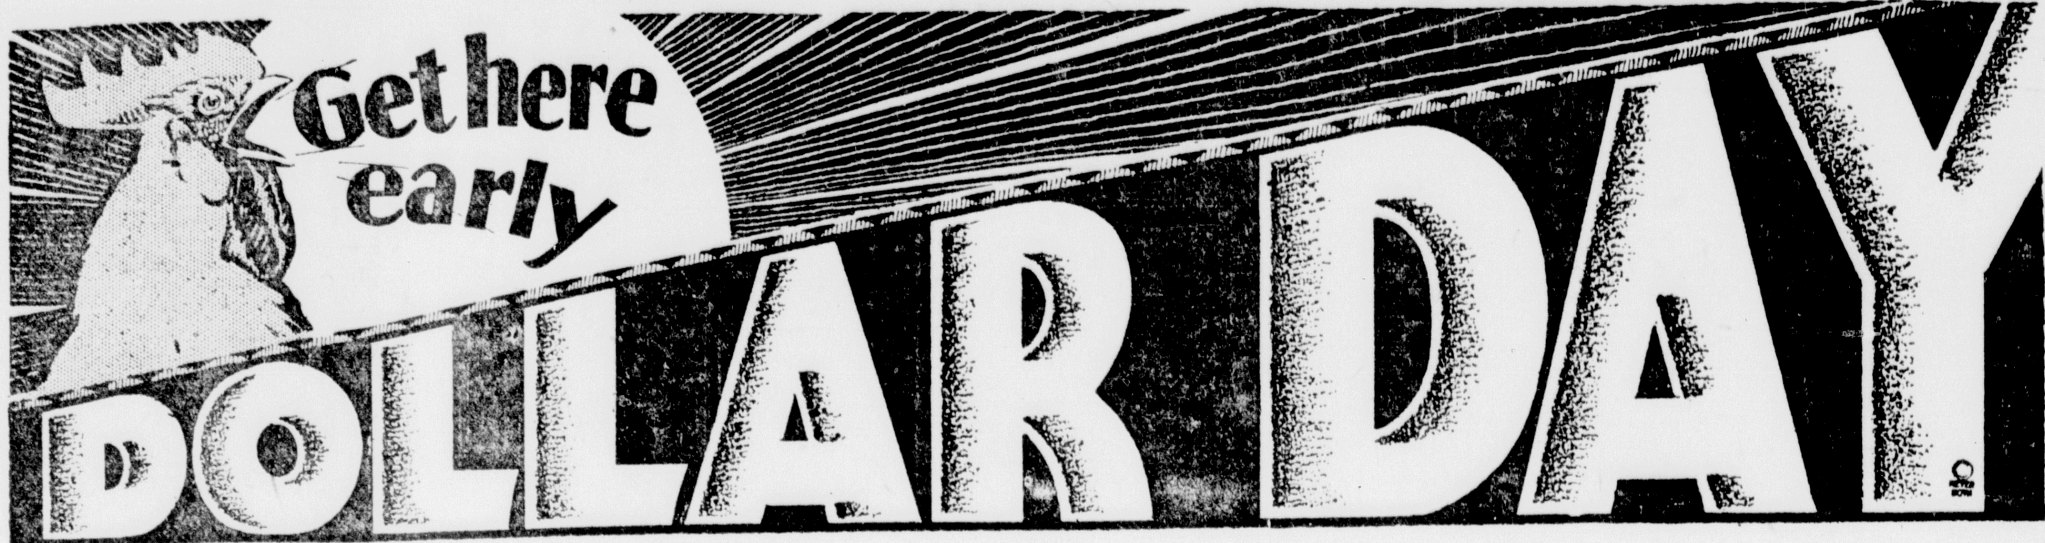

Words won't dye a dress, or coat, or sweater. It takes real aniline to do that. That's why Diamond Dyes contain from three to five times more aniline than any other dye—by actual test.

It's the anilines in Diamond Dyes that do the work that give the colors such brilliance; such depth and permanence. It's real aniline that keeps them from giving things that dyed look; from spotting or streaking.

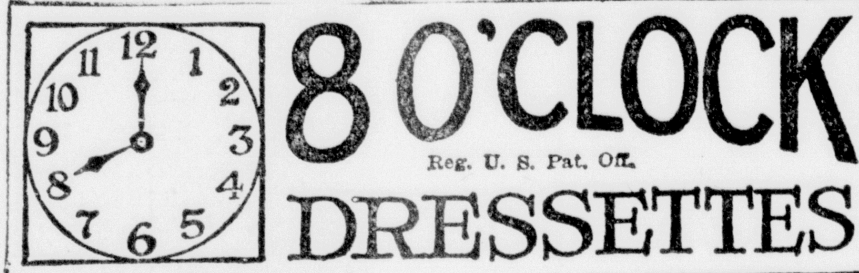

Next time you have dyeing to do, try Diamond Dyes. Then compare results. See how soft, bright, new-looking the colors are. Observe how they keep their brilliance. Your dealer will refund your money if you don't agree Diamond Dyes are better dyes.

The white package of Diamond Dyes is the original "all-purpose" dye for any and every kind of material. It will dye or tint silk, wool, cotton, linen, rayon or any mixture of materials. The blue package is a special dye, for silk or wool only. With it you can dye your valuable articles of silk or wool with results equal to the finest professional work. When you buy—remember this. The blue package dyes silk or wool only. The white package will dye every kind of goods, including silk and wool. Your dealer has both packages.

The Theater

Jetta Goudal, film star, is testifying in superior court at Los Angeles in her suit to obtain $101,000 as back salary from Cecil B. DeMille.

Jetta complains that she had a five-year contract with the producer but that she was discharged for staging temperamental outbursts.

She testified that when DeMille first sent for her he remarked: "I understand you have been a naughty girl at times," referring to her reputation for pyrotechnical temperament. Jetta said she didn't reply, whereupon DeMille said: "Why don't you answer?"

And the Goudal drew herself up haughtily to say: "I am a lady, Mr. DeMille." Soft music!

JETTA GOUDAL

The recent epidemic of influenza in Hollywood, which is said to be returning now, is being blamed on the sound stage necessary for making talkies.

The sound stages are illuminated by noiseless but terribly hot incandescent lights, which absorb all the oxygen in the air. The players breathe stale, rather poisonous air, the stages being shut up tight to keep out other noises. The result has been colds, poor health, weakening of resistance and influenza. It means that ventilation systems for sound stages will have to be installed for the protection of the players.

Poems that Live

TO BLOSSOMS

Fair pledges of a fruitful tree,
Why do ye fall so fast?
Your date is not so past
But you may stay yet here awhile
To blush and gently smile,
And go at last.

What! Were ye born to be
An hour or half's delight?
And so to bid good-night?
'Twas pity Nature brought you forth
Merely to show your worth
And lose you quite.

But you are lovely leaves, where we
May read how soon things have
Their end, though ne'er so brave;
And after they have shown their pride
Like you awhile, they glide
Into the grave.
